Event Information

COURSE

The start on Saturday 7th October 2017 is at Speirs Warf, Port Dundas, Glasgow. The finish is at the Millennium Wheel, Falkirk. The distance is approximately 23.5 miles. Portages are required around the locks between Banknock and Bonnybridge in the last 5 miles of this stage.

The start on Sunday 8th October is above the Millennium Wheel and the locks of the new Falkirk Interchange on the Union Canal. The finish is just before Lochrin Basin, Edinburgh. The distance is approximately 31 miles and as this is a contour canal there are no locks to portage.

All competitors are required to navigate the entire length of the canals. There will be mobile checkpoints in place to ensure that this is done. Competitors may portage in places other than around locks or natural blockages but at all times must follow the route of the canal and in no way shorten the course.

CAR PARKING AT START & FINISH AREAS

The normal car parking arrangements for the start and finish of each day are outlined below however, these could be subject to change on the weekend of the event.

Saturday Start

There is limited car parking at the start on Saturday and it is important that the local parking restrictions around the housing are observed.

Saturday Finish

The most convenient parking area on Saturday is on the North side of the canal rather than in the Falkirk Wheel Visitor Centre car parking on the south side. Access to this car park is by following the Park & Ride signs at the roundabout on the outskirts of Falkirk on the A803 and A883. Continue past the Park and Ride and into the public car park.

Sunday Start

On Sunday morning there is a walk of c.400m along rough track to get to the canal. Through advance contact with the event organizer it is possible to arrange vehicular access to the towpath for paddlers with mobility difficulties.

Sunday Finish

If you wish to do a shuttle at the start of the day on Sunday and leave your car in Edinburgh the British waterways personnel on duty at Leamington Lift Bridge will allow you into the parking area along the canal side. The Scottish Canals phone No. for access early morning is 07795 827712.

When driving along the canal side you must put on your hazard lights as this is primarily a footpath.

RACE NUMBERS

Each entry will be given a number bib or board which must be displayed as instructed at all times. The bib must be handed to and worn as instructed by successive paddlers in the Relay and Team Relay Classes. Racing Number Boards will be used for Classes A & B.

CHANGE OVERS

Incoming paddlers in the Relay, Team Relay and Open Team Relay classes must ensure that their boat overlaps the outgoing paddler before the bib is handed over.

Parking at change overs

Care should be taken to avoid inconvenience or danger to other road users. Care should also be taken to ensure that vehicles and/or support crew do not obstruct the tow path in any way as this may cause problems for paddlers who are portaging or for other canal and towpath users.

Wyndford Lock (the first portage)

Please could you ensure that support crews do not park on the south side of the Forth and Clyde Canal at Wyndford Lock, the access on this side from Wyndford Road is private.

There is parking for three to four vehicles at the east end of Wyndford Lock on the north side of the Canal (the towpath side) and there is further parking along the track approximately 150 metres west of the Lock Keeper's cottage on the same side which should be ample. Please do not to park close to the Cottage on the track
